? "Why should I continue reading to my child? She can already read on her own!"

Reading a story aloud to your child shows her that reading is fun. It encourages her to read and engage with the text herself. Reading aloud puts your child at ease. She learns to concentrate and can set her imagination free.

? "How should we find the time to read 5 books — my child has homework and sports activities, etc.?"

Take a pick! Perhaps you and your child will find a book you particularly like to read aloud. Or you can listen to a CD together... You and your child can choose from the selection in the book box and see what you like.

? "Why is there a book for parents in a children's book box?"

The book box encourages a love of books and reading. Reading books not only sparks the imagination but can also give you ideas for everyday activities. And that's exactly what the book for parents does. There are cookbooks to help you cook a favourite meal, arts and crafts books, or activity books with ideas for activities that appeal to children and adults alike...

? "Two weeks is much too short! Why isn't the lending period longer?"

Two weeks gives you time to read or listen to a selection of the media. But it also ensures all the children in the class have the opportunity to take the box home with them during their first year of school. If you'd like to keep a book longer, simply borrow it from your local library.
